WE NOMINATE

Two quiet, unassuming residents of West Windsor Township, John R. B. Slayback Jr. and Richard Joseph Ward, who on Memorial Day, 1962—a day this country sets aside for the purpose of rededicating itself to ideals that are essential parts of the American tradition—are being honored by their associates for distinguished service to the youth of West Windsor. To the 63-year old Ward, president of the West Windsor Little League, and to his hard-working vice-president, Slayback, a sixth-generation Princetonian, belongs the distinction of becoming the first recipients of Honor Plaques conceived as tributes to "community-minded individuals concerned with the development of young men."

The back-drop for this Memorial Day presentation, in which all of West Windsor participated, was provided by the newly-completed West Windsor Little League Baseball Field, located on the North Post Road, some two miles south of the Princeton Junction station. In the fall of 1960, following its fourth year of operation and with the future of its former railroad-site uncertain, the West Windsor Little League, Inc., purchased a wooded, undeveloped 13-acre tract. Out of this, with Ward and Slayback doing "100 odd jobs," scores of individuals, families, business firms and service groups have literally carved a baseball stadium "in miniature."

The Little League headquarters, comparable to an excellent school baseball facility and reminiscent of what the late Ring Lardner would have called a "well scrubbed diamond," suggests a remarkable story of community effort that is now enabling 120 youngsters, ranging in years from 8 through 12, to enjoy intelligently organized competitive sport. While there are some who criticize the nation-wide Little League for its "sense of over-organization," the spirit of the West Windsor enterprise is mirrored not only by its unsalaried officials but also by the youthful players who evening after evening personify high standards of sportsmanship seldom discovered on television screens.

An inspection of the "Post Road Tract," with its four acres of sod, a "skinned diamond," bleachers seating 500, an excellent back-stop, cement-block dugouts and a frame two-story service building, confirms the investment of 1000's of hours of volunteer labor as well as services and materials provided by neighborhood firms on a below-cost basis. The construction of 1,500 feet of road, the uprooting of an apple orchard, the removal of stumps and grading, construction, and sodding by experts — all of this was crammed into a period of 18 months and some "60 weekends of overtime."

Ward, long associated with the DeLaval Steam Turbine Company, Trenton, and the senior active member of the Princeton Junction Fire Company, is in his fourth year as league president and is an unusual league executive in that he is a widower and childless. The 57-year old Slayback, the father of a "Little League alumnus" and the son of a former Princeton University official, is continuing a family tradition as a member of the administrative staff of the Plasma Physics Laboratory at the Forrestal Research Center. Both agree that they have made "some progress" but both are now looking forward to the construction of a senior field, the completion of a family picnic area and the possible innovation of "night baseball."

For their major roles in helping create the equivalent of a youth recreation center for West Windsor; for their capacities for "keeping matters on an even keel" and for translating enthusiasm into purposeful work; for their unbounded, and understandable, pride in their community's "oncoming generations"; they are TOWN TOPICS' nominees as

THE FATE OF 92

Decision In Two Months. Unable to hear at first because a 20-ton truck happened to be rumbling by, Princeton learned this week from those who were there that the State Highway Department's hearing on Route 92 would produce a decision on the by-pass in eight to ten weeks.

The five-hour hearing was held in the Pioneer Grange Hall in Dayton on Thursday before Stephen Link, district engineer for the State Highway Department.

One thing is certain: the 14-mile freeway has a low priority in highway department files because the traffic is thought to be too light to warrant the by-pass.

However, Mayor Henry Patterson said after the hearing that he thinks Princeton should not be pessimistic. The route has been laid out by the state, Mayor Patterson points out, and the hearing has actually been held.

NO. TANKS: The desire for a 206-by-pass that Princeton residents feel vibrating in their bones every time a truck goes by is illustrated by this oil carrier poised at Nassau Street for a turn north into Bayard Lane. Route 92, the up-to-date name for the by-pass, was discussed at a five-hour public hearing Thursday presided over by State Highway officials. Result: you'll be seeing these trucks for a while longer.

United Front. Borough officials, Township Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman and Planning Board chairman Gerald Breese had the support of Princeton University, Lawrenceville, West Windsor Township, East Windsor Township, The Institute for Advanced Study, the Lawrenceville School and Mercer County in making a united presentation.

All would like to see the state's route kept as is, and spokesmen for Borough, Township and County urged at the hearing that the alignment be followed in order to relieve truck traffic in the center of Princeton.

As designed, the freeway would carry truck traffic from Route 206 at the Bedens Brook bridge north of Rocky Hill, through Franklin Township crossing Route 27 north of Kingston, crossing Route One and proceeding through Plainsboro Township north of Plainsboro and across Route 539 north of Hightstown to a junction with Route 33 in East Windsor Township.

Neighboring Somerset and Middlesex Counties agree with Mercer and its communities that the segment between Route 206 and Route One should be built as soon as possible to relieve Princeton and Lawrenceville of truck traffic, but agreement seemed to end there.

Somerset County's Montgomery Township wants to move the Route 206 intersection south from Bedens Brook to Bolmer's Corner (Route 206 and Rocky Hill-Blawenburg Road) to avoid Rocky Hill.

"We would like to see a change of alignment, but we want the road more than we want the change," one Montgomery spokesman said. "When a man is drowning, he doesn't care what life preserver is thrown to him."

Kingston Protests. Thomas G. Cook of Kingston presented a petition with 203 signatures protesting the route: "It would tear the heart out of Kingston —there wouldn't be anything left."

Mr. Cook said the road would go down the middle of Main Street in Kingston.

South Brunswick does not like the proposed route at all, and Middlesex County generally is opposed because county officials think that the alignment would kill off industrial development.

"Mercer County has come here with a large cheering section," said Mayor Richard J. Casey of South Brunswick. "We want them to be comfortable, but not at our expense."

So Does South Brunswick. South Brunswick would like to see the Route One intersection moved north so that it would not endanger the Phipps Estate property, recently earmarked for an industrial research park. A spokesman for the Phipps Estate warned that present road plans would kill the project.

General Devices, in South Brunswick, opposed any change to save the Phipps property because its own tract would be endangered, and Cities Service Research in Cranbury opposed for the same reason.

Plainsboro wants the road moved north away from the village of Plainsboro, and Hightstown and East Windsor want it close to Hightstown to serve potential new industrial and research areas.

Princeton Township and Princeton Borough and the University asked for a link between the point where Route 92 crosses Route 27, and a point on the Princeton Township line at the Millstone River.

Highway officials will examine all the evidence, and then announce their decision in the eight-to-ten week interval. Counties and municipalities may submit additional material to the state if they wish.

Most estimates say that it would be four or five years by the most optimistic view, before the road could be started. A by-pass was incorporated into the 1949 Borough Master Plan. It was first suggested, however, as far back as 1929.

WATER FLOWS AGAIN But Restrictions In Effect.

We have made some quick changes at the Stony Brook plant and can send up at least 500,000 gallons per day more than on May 22."

These encouraging words came this week from Edward A. MacMillan, president of the Princeton Water Company, in a report made to Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman of the Township.

During the height of the pressure crisis on the week-end of May 19-20, the company pumped 835,000 more gallons per day than it would have normally, so the additional half-million gallons would have made an appreciable difference during the pressure shortage.

The company also announced a staggered plan for lawn sprinkling. (See box at right.)

The engineering firm of Buck, Seifert and Yost has been retained to comb over the network of water company mains, examine the pumps and tanks and, finally, present a long-range master plan which the company can follow to keep pace with the growing community of Princeton.

Two representatives of the firm spent all day Wednesday, May 23, in Princeton and recommended the changes in filter and pump operation that helped to increase the delivery of water.

When to Sprinkle

Moving cautiously in the aftermath of the water shortage of two weeks ago, the Princeton Water Company said this week that people with lawns may now sprinkle them from sundown to sunrise according to the schedule listed below:

Monday and Thursday — odd-numbered houses.

Tuesday and Friday — even-numbered houses.

Wednesday and Sunday — country houses without numbers.

Churches, schools and other institutions are asked to call the company for a time assignment.

Sprinkling days will be increased as soon as the company feels that it is safe to do so but swimming pools may not be refilled until the company has announced a refilling schedule.

ROUND-UP

When Rives Matthews of Bedens Brook Road, Blawenburg, returned home last week after a trip abroad, he learned that two bronze Buddhas, which he values at $15,000 each, had been stolen from a collection of 15 such statuettes . . . one was of the 12th century, the other of the 18th, while a third casualty was a Chinese vase of the Chin dynasty, which the thief broke . . . other than his clumsiness, he is credited by T. Matthews with being a well educated burglar in view of his choice of two of the most expensive objects d'art.

The Superior Court decision on whether radio station WHWH must raze the six broadcasting towers it has erected has been postponed to June 8 . . . following consideration of the station's appeal last week. Hopewell Township was given another fortnight in which to show further cause.

Township police staged a western-style round-up Sunday morning in the Fairway Drive (Brookstone) area . . . several cattle from the Bill Farm on Rosedale Road broke out of their corral, but the gendarmes - turned - cowpunchers returned the beef safely without the loss of a single steak.

The fund-raising drive to send the High School Choir abroad will benefit by 20% of the total sales Friday at Male's Book Shop . . . for a progress report on the campaign, see Topics of the Town, and to help the drive progress, send your check to "Board of Education Choir Tour," care of Princeton High School.

Use of Grover Avenue park and playground area is now restricted . . . permits may be obtained from the Township Health Department.

The thermometer rested last week after its unseasonal excursions into the 90's . . . only one reading topped 80 . . . the drought was temporarily broken with Thursday's weird weather (see page 12).

Progress '62, a program sponsored by the New Jersey Education Association, will be televised Saturday at 1 over Channel 4 and Sunday at 2 over Channel 3 . . . among the features on view will be the bones of a mastodon which roamed New Jersey some 20,000 years ago . . . when Jules Marron of the State Department of Conservation arrived from the site of the find in Sussex County with bones of the long-extinct elephant under his arm, someone asked, "Where did you kill it?"

Person To Person

Cory S. Kammler

We heard an old story repeated, and perhaps you've heard it before, but it's got a point. It seems there was a tourist driving through the mountains using the back roads, and after much winding and turning, wasn't sure of the way. He came upon a young mountaineer, and asked him, "Where does this road go to?" The boy looked him over, and said, "Don't go nowhere . . . always stays here." Taken aback, the city fellow tried again, "Well, how long is it to the next town?" And got this reply, "Don't know, never measured it." This was too much, and the driver blurted, "You don't know anything, do you? You're the biggest fool I ever saw." The boy looked at steadily, and said, "I know I don't know nothin', but I ain't lost!" Well, in this day of specializations, we though of how easy it is for any of us to get lost once we are outside of our own specialty. Our only protection is the integrity of the people with whom we do business . . . we must depend upon them not to give us any double-talk, and to look out for our best interests. For mutual benefit, may we please prove to you that is why it pays to do business with us? Kammler Buick-Pontiac Co., Route 206, opposite Princeton Airport, WA 1-2222.

FETE!

Fun-For-All Time. When 10 a.m. swings around this Saturday—hopefully under bright blue and sunshine—the annual Hospital Fete will turn Fitzpatrick Field into a circus of tents and pleasure for children, teen-agers and their mothers and fathers.

The field is next to Palmer Stadium. For a complete schedule of events at the Fete, see page 10.

Paul and Mary Ritz, stars of the Family Television Show on NBC-TV, will present a puppet show at 11 and at 11:30 p.m., and Bamblinko the clown, will come again to roam the field as he has in other years.

A new personality at the Fete this year is the artist Lorna Bath who will make portraits in charcoal and pastels. People who have birthdays or anniversaries on June 2 may have a cake decorated especially for them at the Cake Booth at 10:30 a.m. by a professional decorating specialist.

At the movies, there will be not only the old comic films, but also new documentaries of both the Shepard and Glenn orbital flights.

"The Teen Town Tent," new this year, will be open only to boys and girls over 13 and not to children or adults at all. Live music and dancing, electronic games, a beauty booth with tips on hair-dos and a beauty show every hour, games of strength and skill—all events have been planned by the teen-agers themselves.

At 4:15 there will be a professional WAAT Variety Show in the Armory festuring Twist and dance contests with prizes.

MERGER STUDY ASKED

For Princeton Schools. A petition bearing 183 Borough signatures has been presented to the Borough Board of Education asking that the Board, with the Township Board, appoint a citizens' committee to study a merger of the two school systems.

"The Borough and Township form a single educational community in which there are only 330 Borough students among the 1,500 in the high school," states the petition, "and some Borough grade-school children are obliged to travel a distance to school when a Township school is near at hand."

In addition, the petition cites the Township's decision to withhold renewal of its sending district contract until the Township's relationship with the high school can be reviewed.

"A merger of the school systems might allow better use of educational resources and improvement in the quality of public education," the petition says, commenting on the recent merger report which showed, according to its backers, that merger could be achieved without "appreciable change" in the Borough school tax rate.

The Princeton Chamber of Commerce has already initiated procedures to obtain legislation which would make a merged school system legally possible.

The petitioners ask that the committee be directed to report back to both Boards by September of this year. Robert Palmer, one of the three residents who made the original merger proposal, was the author of the petition.

and its four-weeks' concert tour of Europe. Choir members are preparing for their final exams with their fingers crossed.

All-out response from parents has raised $13,000; the community has given $10,000 and another $10,000 has come from the State Department. The goal is $38,200.

Superintendent of Schools Chester R. Stroup said this week, "We've come a long way in the past few days, and I think the support we received from TOWN TOPICS by saluting the choir on its front page meant a great deal. It encouraged us, and drew attention to what we are trying to do for these wonderful youngsters."

Already internationally recognized for the calibre and sensitivity of its performance, the choir has been invited by a number of European music festivals and organizations to give concerts during late June and early July. Dr. Stroup stated that the city of Edinburgh had cancelled its music festival, and that the choir will conclude its tour with the London concert.

"The last mile towards our goal is the longest," Dr. Stroup said, "but none of us can believe that the community will let down these talented kids who can do so much for all of us in representing American youth.

Gifts, large or small, for the Board of Education Choir Fund, may be mailed to the high school in care of Dr. Stroup.

A LA CARTE

Those Supermarket Buggies. Free-wheeling shopping carts, abandoned by their illegal drivers and left to imperil motorists on Township streets, provided half an hour of spirited discussion at Township Committee Monday night.

The Traffic Safety Committee had recommended that Committee do something about the little carts, which are pushed away from the two supermarkets in the Shopping Center by shoppers who abandon them once the groceries have been taken out and never give them another thought.

Against the judgment of Committeemen Thomas P. Cook and William Wilson, who feel that the Township has enough ordinances already, Committee asked Attorney Gordon Griffin to draw up some kind of ordinance to keep shopping carts where they belong.

Mr. Griffin was also asked to see whether there might not be some ordinance already on the books which could be applied to the situation, a la carte.

Why don't the two supermarkets do something about their stolen carts?

"You don't go around putting customers in jail," commented Committeeman John S. Mount. "It isn't good business."

Federal officials have told the Township that, in order to qualify for a Federal loan for a final engineering design of the Hillside Avenue sewer, the Township must either have title to the land, agreements guaranteeing title or easements. Since the Township has none of these, it could apply only for a preliminary design loan, and Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman said this would take too long. Committee will announce next Monday what it plans to do about designs for both The Great Road and Hillside Avenue sewers.

The $7,225 Ewing Street sewer extension was approved, and an ordinance was introduced to accept a portion of Terhune and build a sewer under it at a cost of $6,300. The sewer had been requested by petition of residents.

The Township has asked the state for time to complete a traffic count on Valley Road, Witherspon and Jefferson, and would be guided by the count in deciding whether to make Valley a through street. It will be the state that makes the ultimate decision, anyway, but since the state has based its whole case on volume, the Township would like to have its own figures to show.

It has rained only two inches in the last three weeks — every drop of it last Thursday, when wind, thunder, lightning, rain and hail were all part of the Weather Man's handout for the day.

Matters for the immediate future will be considerably more palatable, he reports. By Friday, brief showers may be a part of the picture, but not for long. The weekend shapes up as ideal: fair and pleasantly warm.

DRAMAS ANNOUNCED

For McCarter in the Fall. "The Mediterranean Heritage," a cycle of four plays derived from Greece and Rome, will be given next fall in McCarter Theatre as the repertory for the theatre's third autumn drama series.

Opening November 1 with Sophocles' "Antigone," the series will continue with Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors," Albert Camus' "Caligula" and Eugene O'Neill's "Mourning Becomes Electra."

"The cycle continues the University's policy of presenting, through McCarter Theatre, the great plays of every century in what President Robert Goheen has called "a living library of the theatre."

All four dramas are rooted in the myth, legend and history of Greece and Rome. Shakespeare took his comedy from the "Menaechmi" of Plautus, the Roman writer of farce. Camus wrote his drama about Caligula from history and from Suetonius' "The Twelve Caesars" and Eugene O'Neill based his tragedy on the Greek myth of Electra and Agamemnon's return from the Trojan War.

The plays will be given by the resident professional company at McCarter on successive Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays through November, with the final evening on December 1.

As before, there will be special school matinees arranged by McCarter in cooperation with the state department of education.

JOINS McCARTER STAFF: A. Munroe Wade of Princeton will serve as coordinator for the McCarter Guild.

MUNROE WADE NAMED

To McCarter Staff. A. Munroe Wade, 670 Princeton-Kingston Road, has been named to the McCarter Theatre staff, Milton Lyon, McCarter producer, announced this week.

Mr. Wade will be Coordinator for the McCarter Guild, the statewide extension and service branch of the McCarter Center for the Performing Arts.

Well-known in Princeton as director and actor, Mr. Wade has directed the Savoyard productions for the past four years and has served as director of dramatics for Miss Fine's School for several years. He has directed more than 35 plays for various organizations, and has played some 65 different roles. At present, he is appearing with the Lambertville Music Circus.

A graduate of Princeton, Mr. Wade was president of Triangle Club in 1930 and wrote, with Joshua Logan, "The Golden Dog," which opened the doors of McCarter as the theatre's first production on February 22, 1930. He has been a Triangle trustee since 1954.

Mr. Wade's duties with the McCarter Guild will be to promote Guild activities in cities and towns throughout New Jersey. The Guild, with membership open to all, offers help to community theatre groups, supports theatre attendance for charities and benefits and encourages the development of performing arts techniques.

Those who are interested in the Guild may obtain further information from Mr. Wade, McCarter Theatre, P.O. Box 526.

Murray Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 14, 15 and 16 and again on June 21, 22 and 23 under the temperance banner of Princeton Community Players. Curtain time for all performances will be 8:30.

"The Drunkard" opened in Boston in 1844 and played more than 140 times in its first season. Revived at the American Museum in New York in 1864. It has been a favorite of amateur and professional theatrical groups for more than a century.

A contemporary account reports that, in the scene depicting delirium tremens and in the scenes showing the distress of the drunkard's family, scores of men and women in the audience wept like children. Murray Theatre audiences are urged to remain calm.

The cast is under the direction of Garrison Ellis, president of Community Players, who has also assumed the role of the villian, Lawyer Cribbs. It is said that both president and director regard Mr. Ellis as their last choice for the part.

Other roles will be taken by Donald Warnock, Jr., as the hero who triumphs over the evils of drink, Tom Richardson, Bill Patton, Mical O'Maher, Barbara Hutchinson, Leo J. Cohen, Lois Cohen, Jean Loveday, Neal Holland, Ralph Freedman, Richard Cohen and Mimi Parasheles.

SHAHN TO DESIGN

For Yeats Play. A "show cloth," to be used as the opening and closing for "Calvary," the W. B. Yeats verse drama, has been designed for Theatre Intime by Ben Shahn and will be used when the Yeats drama is given during "Reunion Showcase" next Friday and Saturday, June 8 and 9 in Murray Theatre.

The painted cloth derives from the convention of the Japanese "Noh" dramas and serves not only to open and close the play, but to introduce the poetic symbols used by Yeats.

The other two plays to be offered in "Showcase" are "X = O," by the English poet John Drinkwater, and "Passion, Poison and Petrifaction," by Bernard Shaw. Members of Theatre Intime and the McCarter Workshop will perform, under the direction of Rod McManigal in the Drinkwater piece, and under George Blanchard, '64, for the Shaw.

Reservations may be made at the University Store or by calling McCarter Theatre, WA 1-8700. Tickets are $2.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Moon Pilot (May 30-June 2). Youngsters and the unsophisticated may enjoy Walt Disney's lampoon of the space age. He makes the U. S. astronauts, Air Force brass, U. S. Senators and Federal security aides look pretty silly. It is a broad, slapstick farce with heavy-handed caricatures.

Tom Tryon, as Captain Richmond Talbert, is our hero, who refuses to "volunteer" to go to the moon unless he can say goodbye to his mother in San Francisco on a three-day pass. French stage and screen star Dany Saval makes her American debut as a beautiful young girl from another planet who meets Tryon on the plane. Edmund O'Brien mugs his way through the film as a frustrated and insecure Federal security agent assigned to guard our hero.

Then there's Charley the Chimp who completes a successful trip to the moon and back. Brian Keith as the apoplectic general in charge of the moon shoot; and Bob Sweeney, who does well as the bombastic Senator with his finger both on the moon project and his constituents. Comment: far-out farce.

The Horizontal Lieutenant (June 3-5). Paula Prentiss and Jim Hutton, who have hit the bullseye as a team in three previous films, star in this Army farce. The movie is based on a book, "The Bottletop Affair," written by Gordon Cotler.

The setting is in Hawaii, late in 1944, when things were quiet, militarily speaking. During an intra-service baseball game, Jim Hutton, an intelligence officer, is beaned by a foul ball and is "horizontalized." The beautiful nurse is Paula Prentiss.

She is pursued by so many admirers that the bashful hero is brushed off until he tells her he is departing "on a very dangerous assignment." The mission is actually to capture a Japanese sneak thief nicknamed "Bottle Top" because he likes to steal soda pop. Then follows a series of comedy chases and mishaps. Miyoshi Umeki is a welcome marquee addition in the role of a Japanese patriot. She adds a bright note with her singing. TV comedian Jack Carter and Jim Backus make appearances. The heavy is played by Yoshio Yoda. Comment: Army comedy.

Lonely Are The Brave (June 6-9) tells, in simple and direct terms, of a wandering cowboy whose deep, almost obsessive desire for freedoms in the open spaces of the west leads him into trouble. It is an unusual and moving picture, based on the novel, "The Brave Cowboy," by Edward Abbey. It was photographed in Albuquerque and the nearby Sandia Mountaiacs. The scenic effects are utterly breath-taking.

Kirk Douglas brings all his expected rugged vigor to the role of the cowboy, aided most capably by Walter Matthau, as the sheriff whose duty forces him into all-out pursuit. Gena Rowland is effective in her brief role as the wife of Douglas' good friend, Michael Kane, with indication that Douglas and she had been in love, but freedom meant more to Douglas than love. Comment: a warm, compelling story.

NATURAL JEWELRY

In Artful Settings. The natural, modest stones found by amateur gem-hunters and people with sharp eyes have been collected or purchased by a Princeton resident named Alma Wells and incorporated into gold and silver settings to make modern jewelry of originality and charm.

The pieces are not available in any shop, but may be seen by appointment through Mrs. Peter Marx, who is acting as Mrs. Wells' business manager. Call Mrs. Marx at WA 1-6231 after 5, and she will arrange to show you the unusual pins, necklaces, earrings, bracelets, and accessory pieces made by Mrs. Wells from natural stones.

Here, for example, is a brushed sterling silver leaf pin with a smoky quartz at the base, and another with small stones of striped milky quartz and moss agate clustering at the stem.

One of the most striking designs is the chunky bracelet composed of four linked triangles of silver, each corner upturned to make a little silver boat. Within each of the four is a stone of deep jade, contrasting sharply with the silver.

When we speak of natural stones, of course, we mean pebble-sized bits, as large as a quarter or as small as a bean, polished and rounded but not cut, each stone different in shape and in marking.

And speaking of pebbles, Mrs. Wells has made a witty bracelet from a rhodium chain and a dangling collection of pleasing pink and brown stones — picked out of her driveway gravel.

The tiger-eye, that favorite of young Princeton flirts, appears as an elongated stone set against a leaf pin, its tawny spot glowing against the gold.

Three pansy leaves in silver interlock to hold a goldstone; it is copper-flecked highlights contrasting dramatically with the silver, and reflecting the similar stones in the pansy leaf earrings that match.

And speaking of drama, you'll like the gleaming veined black stones, polished to an approximate squareness, each one set in a larger square of gold to make a striking charcoal and gold link bracelet.

Black has been used again in a pair of onyx cufflinks with silver settings, and a most unusual stone called an Apache's Tear (well, there was this Indian massacre — you know) a deep, smoky brown that changes depth according to the light, has been set in a plain oval ring made of silver, and suspended from a chain.

We can't possibly describe all the pieces Mrs. Wells has made, of course. You can probably think of combinations you'd like to see her try, and if you suggest stones in varying combinations — jade and rock crystal, perhaps, — she can set them according to your preference.

Prices start at $2.50 and go up to about $12.98. Both silver and rhodium have been used, and of course, the sterling brings a higher price. We suggest a call to Mrs. Marx and an appointment for your next free hour.

BRASS AT THE DOOR

From Silver Shop. A splendid brass door-knocker, so heavy that you could crack a knuckle if you caught it in the clapper, is waiting for somebody who wants an anchor door-knocker. It's at The Silver Shop on Palmer Square. 100 years old, hand made, about seven inches, overall, and handsome as the admiral himself.

Actually, we dropped in to look at some mid-19th century pieces from a Philadelphia estate, charming family items that bring back the domestic scenes of a century ago.

Cape May "Diamonds"

The clear silicate pebbles called Cape May "diamonds" have been used with frequency and imagination in many pieces of jewelry in the Alma Wells' collection described elsewhere in "It's New to Us."

Cape May Diamonds are found in the southern beach area by amateur geologists skillful enough to know where to look. They are clear or faintly milky, depending on the usual variations found within stones, and when they are cut and polished, or just polished and left in their natural state, as in Mrs. Wells' jewelry, they are cool and smooth to the eye and the touch.

Mrs. Wells has used them in single-drop earrings or in clusters of three as bangle earrings. She has embedded one at the base of a gold leaf pin, and has suspended another within a gold circle swinging from the end of a long gold chain.

If you have any of these stones, she will set them for you in whatever setting suits your pleasure.

There is a sterling box with curling irons, and the alcohol burner to get them hot. (Hurry — the party's about to begin!); a child's silver mug engraved "Willie — February 23, 1868", worked in a most unusual fashion, almost Empire in feeling, with a child as a figure-head handle and a faint air of the cupboard about it, because there are none of those dents that come from insistent pounding on a high-chair tray; a sterling double-inkstand with festoon border around the 5 x 8 inch rectangle and wrought silver tops on the crystal ink-wells.

There is also a copper kettle with brass bindings from 150-175 years ago, sturdy and water-tight, with just enough dents left in to make it interesting (holds about 3 quarts).

Our favorite, perhaps, is the pair of ornamental Sheffield breakfast warmers with pyramidal silver tops. On the side is a small crest, and when you examine it closely you find one of the most remarkable family mottoes we have ever encountered: "I Mean Well."

An earlier example of silver work is the Brown & Seal coin silver pot made in 1810 to, we should guess, a gentleman's taste. The pot is solid, square, with substantial walnut handle and four knob feet. A prosperous pot for a good prosperous burgher.

AUTOGRAPH

Those Princetonians Again. Princeton authors number as the desert sands, as you know, and just because The Book Mart on Palmer Square mentions only three doesn't mean there aren't ranks of them lined up behind.

At the moment, we consider our old friend, John O'Hara and "The Big Laugh," and a new friend, Geraldine Lux Flanagan, who has written "The First Nine Months of Life." Mrs. Flanagan's slim volume describes in full detail the growth of the human embryo, presents good medical photographs and obligingly includes a full bibliography in the back. $3.95.

John Tyler Bonner of the University's biology department, offers "The Ideas of Biology," one of the Harper Modern Science Series designed for lay readers who want to keep up.

In Mershon's Memory. Cantata 198, "The Trauerode" by Johann Sebastian Bach, will be sung this Sunday at 5 by the Princeton Methodist Church Choir in a concert dedicated to the memory of Irving W Mershon.

"The Trauerode" was composed for the memorial service of Queen Christiane Eberhardine of Saxony, much revered by her people because she had refused to follow her husband into the Catholic faith.

Thomas Hilbish, director of the Choir, will conduct. The public is invited to attend the performance, which will be given in the church.

Jeanmarie's fiery "Carmen" is easily the best, with Cyd Charisse a close second as the predatory widow in "A Merry Mourning." Comment: the French at their most playful

And while we're in Princeton, we'll mention the Mobil Travel Guide Series, destined to be the American Guide Michelin. The series covers all the states by groups, and rates various hotels and restaurants by a one-to-three star system, just like Michelin. Three Princeton establishments receive two stars, which is very good indeed because hardly anybody rates three. The paperback guides are $1 each.

Technical books are now thick and impressive on The Book Mart's shelves. We think you may like to know about the Tutor Texts, those fascinating books designed like teaching machines for people who want to be self-taught in bridge, logarithms, algebra, the use of the slide rule, law or parliamentary procedure. The presentation is new and exciting for a textbook, and we think you ought to investigate.

TRAVELERS RETURN: The University band, crowds of well-wishers and a shower of confetti marked the homecoming of President and Mrs. Robert F. Goheen after their seven-week trip to the universities of the Far East. In the foreground, and foremost among the welcomers are young Elizabeth and Charles Goheen. Story, this page. SACRED COWS WALK . . .

All Over the Streets. A Princeton woman made her first trip to India in March and April. Three weeks after her return, the US announced a gift to India of $56.7 million for malaria control and child education.

This was pure coincidence. Yet the comments of Mrs. Robert F. Goheen shed a certain amount of light upon the gift of such a vast sum.

"If you have never been there before, you are quite stunned by the poverty," she said last week. "Making a trip like this is so perfectly humbling."

Mrs. Goheen had accompanied her husband to colleges and universities from Istanbul to Honolulu. She had visited Bangkok, Hong Kong, Taiwan and Japan, in addition to her nearly three weeks' stay in the "new" India. "People ask you such disarming questions about democracy and education. They really want to know," she commented.

Her impressions of India range the gamut between its plight and its beauty. "The Taj Mahal at Agra—you think something couldn't possibly be so beautiful."

Schooling for Some. Everywhere she was impressed by the gigantic efforts of its educators. India began in 1951 a series of five-year plans to eradicate illiteracy.

The recent US gift includes $25.2 million for free and compulsive education of children up to 14 years of age. By 1947, the end of the third five-year plan, about 60 million children in this age group will be in school. This leaves about 40 million children outside the benefits of the school program.

"There are 440 million Indians and 220 million cattle," Mrs. Goheen mused. "The sacred cows walk all over the streets. The people are most handsome. They are so poor and thin, so you see their wonderful bone structure. The woman have such beautiful carriage.

"The women work very hard," she added. "And Gandhi is constantly on the lips of everyone; he made them realize that things can change."

Workings from Within. Mrs. Goheen saw three of the 140 villages in the "community block" where educators are coaxing the people away from primitive customs. "I was impressed by the subtlety with which the leaders work," she said. "They are a lively people who love India."

She spoke of the cottage industries. "We shy away from the government becoming any more than it is in our lives, but in India these people simply cannot find a market for their products, so their handiwork is sold in the cities in government stores. You see Kashmir products, beaten silver and brass, saris—beautiful, gay-colored saries from the south, Benares silks and Madras cottons and such things."

The Goheens visited the Indian Institute of Technology at Kanpur, a project drawing leadership from about seven US universities under the direction of M.I.T. and financed by the US Government. They stopped at the University of Punjab at Chandigarh, a city which has no poor. "Not yet, anyway," said Mrs. Goheen.

India's Brasilia. "Chandigarh is like Brasilia," she continued. "It is a brand new city. Designed by Le Corbusier, it has been in the process of construction about 10 years. It is terribly interesting and very beautiful.

"There is a man-made lake like Lake Carnegie; the buildings follow the Mogul motif of the Taj Mahal, and in the distance you can see the Himalayas. Each sector is like a separate village, complete with drugstore, church, school and so on. The railroad, airfield, university, industry and municipal and state government all have separate sections."

Mrs. Goheen spoke of Irwin College, part of the the University of Bombay. "The directoress tries to make the girls feel that there is a real responsibility on their shoulders . . . that the home science training they receive is not only for their homes, but of value in their town and their country. It was interesting to note that the director of the collective block we visited was a woman, too."

The Goheen's arrival at Vengurla was very nearly a homecoming. Dr. Goheen's father was well-knowo as a medical missionary. "Although it has been 18 years since the Goheens Sr., left India, as many people remembered them. They opened their arms to make us welcome."

Sauces and Saris. She was asked about Indian food. "Of course, having been in the Goheen family for quite some time, I had had a lot of curries, but that isn't the same as having it in India. The food was 'hotter' than anything I am used to. Among the poor, rice and curry are the staples. They do grow beans, squashes, greens and gourds. Along the coast they eat a lot of fish. The Hindus won't eat meat, you know."

Do the women wear saris because they are cheaper than western clothes? "I just think that it is because the sari is becoming and practical. I wonder how in the world they even developed it, and I just can't imagine how they manage their saris in a monsoon. Working women have a way of tying the sari up between their legs when they work in the rice paddies or chase a water buffalo. We saw a lovely looking young woman on a Vespa in a sari. It scared me to death!"

Mrs. Goheen commented on the variety of languages and dialects in India. "At all of the universities, courses are conducted in English. It was much easier for us in India than in Japan. The street signs are in English as well as in Hindu. We felt completely helpless in the middle of Japan if the taxi driver didn't know English, you couldn't even write down where you wanted to go.

"Such Sensitivity." "There is such sensitivity about the Indians and the Japanese," she said. "In India 'brash' is a word that I heard used to describe westerners. But the Indians get so that they understand and accept western impatience.

"People everywhere were so anxious to introduce their country. A trip like this makes one realize how woefully inadequate is one's understanding and knowledge."

Hand-Sewing Reflects The Quality In New "Skin-Stitch" Florsheims

It takes the eye of an expert to detect the difference between machine work and hand-sewing in today's popular ornamental "skin stitching". However, in all Florsheim Shoes featuring this detail, the work is done by hand—slowly, meticulously, skillfully. It makes for a clean, more uniform line—increased softness and flexibility—and longer wear because the tension on the leather is lessened. The new pattern illustrated is but one of scores of new Florsheim styles for Spring on display at

PATTERN FOR A TORNADO

Narrow Swath Damaged. A tornado-like wind that sliced through Mercer County from west to east Thursday afternoon created considerable havoc along a narrow path that frequently was no more than 50 to 75 yards wide. Some homes experienced heavy damage to trees, rooftops and outbuildings; others, nearby, were entirely untouched.

The wind, which topped 50 miles an hour in the most heavily hit areas, was accompanied by a severe electrical storm and torrential rain. Including a lighter but steady fall in the pre-dawn hours, two inches of rain fell throughout the day.

After inflicting particularly heavy damage in some areas of Pennington, Hopewell and Ewing Townships — including removal of the roof of a newly-built, still unoccupied school in Ewing — the wind ripped through the northwest section of Lawrence Township and the southwest sector of Princeton Township.

Greatest damage was done in the Province Line Road area, particularly to the property of Richard K. Paynter. Virtually all of the large trees there, some of them several decades old, were levelled.

The Chapin School on the Princeton Pike and the Squatters' Club on Quaker Road (see pictures) were among the buildings in outlying areas damaged by the wind. Lightning, too, made its presence felt at 182 Linden Lane, the home of Vincent Boccantuso was struck but little damaged.

A big tree on Nassau Street near Evelyn Place toppled over, causing heavy damage to a parked car owned by Mrs. Martin Lombardo, 329 Nassau Street, and somewhat less harm to another owned by Sarah Mason, 327 Nassau. Traffic was re-routed via Patton Avenue for more than an hour.

At Princeton High School, an emergency was declared and students were instructed not to leave the building until the storm had passed. They were finally released an hour and 15 minutes after the normal closing time of 3:15.

"COLROSS" OCCUPIED

By Day Schools Staff. "Colross." The Great Road mansion which is scheduled to become the nerve center of the Princeton Day Schools, was occupied this week by the office staff of the Development Program.

The staff is headed by John G Livingston, Jr., Director of Development, and includes Mrs. Earl Taylor and Mrs. Chapin Carpenter, Jr. The office will be located in the west wing.

In late summer, C. William Edwards will occupy a main office in "Colross." Named executive vice-chairman of the Day Schools, Mrs. Edwards will assume the interim position of chief executive officer during the development of the schools' program. When his assignment in this capacity has been completed, he plans to move to California to supervise family business interests.

CENTER IS FORMED

For Psychotherapy. Private psychotherapy for adults is a major medical expense, and to meet the need for subsidized therapy, a group of Mercer County residents has formed the Mercer Area Psychotherapy Center, with headquarters in the Whitney Center, 253 Nassau Street.

A public meeting will be held next Thursday, June 7, at 8 in the YMCA, Avalon Place, to explain the plans for this Center and to ask for help in carrying out the project Dr. A. Dale Console has served as chairman of the Center's Planning Committee.

The Center is an outgrowth of a study made in 1960 by the Mercer County Association for Mental Health to learn what the community thought it needed in mental health facilities and to discover what projects were most likely to receive support.

With Dr. Console on the planning committee are Frank Haronis, the Rev. David H McAlpin, Jr., Dr. Charles Swift, Seymour Silberman, Doris Rothman, Fairlie Nicodemus, Dr. Percy Wood, Daniel Gottlieb and Seymour Mandell.

TO DEDICATE MEMORIAL

Honoring F.D.R. The memorial built by the residents of Roosevelt, N. J. to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt will be dedicated this Saturday at 1 p.m. by Mrs. Roosevelt.

An amphitheater built around a monumental bronze head of the president, the memorial is said to be the first one built to honor the memory of F.D.R.

Speakers at the ceremonies will be Adlai E. Stevenson, Dore Schary and Representative Frank Thompson. Actress Anne Bancroft will read excerpts from the late president's speeches

Ben Shahn, artist and resident of Roosevelt since the community was established 25 years ago, conceived the idea for the memorial and now serves as head of the nonprofit corporation that has carried out the project.

The bronze head was executed by Jonathan Shahn, the artist's 23- year-old son. Bertram Ellentuck, architect who lives in Roosevelt, designed the amphitheater, which will be used for concerts, social and cultural events.

CLOSER COOPERATION

At Municipal Level. A recommendation from Borough Mayor Patterson to Township Mayor Fairman was made public by the former this week, the proposal centering around the appointment of study groups to evaluate the possibilities for "improved intermunicipal cooperation."

Mayor Patterson comments: "It is desired and hoped that an unhurried, thoughtful, step-by-step analysis of how our various governmental operations are being conducted at present, and what they are now costing the Borough and Township, will provide the basis for a sound decision both for the long-range future of the Borough and Township and for each of the operations studied."

Both the more obvious areas of mutual interest—such as sewer systems, the incinerator, fire and police protection — and others not heretofore explored would be the target of the proposed study groups, Mayor Patterson said. Consultants will be retained if advisable.

If the procedure outlined above is several steps short of a firm study on eventual consolidation — a word unused throughout the proposal — at least it recognizes the expensive fallacy of duplicated municipal effort in certain major areas. For a more advanced proposal on the pressing need for consolidation, see "Mailbox," page 18.

GOING BACK

But Not to Park. As the result of a survey which counted almost 1,000 cars parked on campus during reunions last year, the University has banned all vehicles from campus from noon Wednesday, June 6, until Sunday, June 10.

As an alternative, the soccer fields will be turned into a supervised, lighted parking area with bus service from the fields up University Place, east on Nassau Street to the entrance of Holder Hall and then through the campus via the gymnasium and back to the parking area.

College Road between Washington Road and University Place will be closed during the Wednesday-Sunday period but Faculty Drive will be open to traffic. Faculty and staff members of the University will also use the alumni parking lots.

HAND IS BLOWN OFF

In Laboratory Explosion. A "minor" explosion in one of the laboratories of the Food Machinery & Chemical Corporation, Route 1, Tuesday morning inflicted major injury to John Croteau, 24, of Bristol, Pa.

Mr. Croteau was rushed by the First Aid and Rescue Squad to Princeton Hospital where he underwent emergency surgery. The hospital reported that Mr. Croteau was suffering from a traumatic amputation of the left hand, severe injuries to the right hand. Numerous glass particles had also been blown into his face and chest. His condition was reported as fair.

State Police report that physical damage to the laboratory was slight. They described the explosion itself as "minor."

BACCALAUREATE SUNDAY

For Hun School. The Hun School will hold its Baccalaureate Service Sunday with the Rev. Dr. Donald Meisel, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, as the speaker.

The Commencement Service will be held the following day. Dr. Harold W. Dodds, President Emeritus of Princeton University, will deliver the address to the 66 members of the senior class. It will be Hun's 48th commencement.

TWO FINED $20

For Careless Driving. Fred C. Rhodes, 18, 14 Horner Lane, and Daniel Sawyer, 20, 38 Lytle Street, were each fined $20 for careless driving by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr., on Monday. Both pleaded guilty.

Isaac Love, Jr., 20, 16 Witherspoon Street, was fined $25 for allowing passengers to ride on his car in an illegal manner. In criminal court, Rivera Hermenegildu, 24, an employee of the Princeton Inn, was fined $25 for stealing a bicycle from the University campus. A companion charged with the same offense, Bennie Pagien, also of the Princeton Inn, has returned to Puerto Rico and forfeited $25 bail.

In Princeton Township, Robert N. Panicaro, 23, Washington Street, Rocky Hill, had his license revoked for 60 days on a speeding charge, which also cost him $35. Magistrate James S. Hill imposed the sentence.

THE UNKINDEST 20% CUT OF ALL? The proposed tax bill whereby the government would withhold 20 percent on interest and dividend incomes is viewed with alarm by Wallee Foster, secretary of Nassau Savings and Loan Association, one of the many agencies affected by the proposed measure. For his reasons opposing it—and for others favoring it—see below.

Question of the Week

Question: The government estimates it fails to collect about $800,000,000 each year from persons who don't report some or all of their interest income from savings accounts and corporate dividends. Would you object to a proposed withholding type of tax that would cover this income?

Where asked: Palmer Square

Lauren D. Rhine, Headmaster, Columbus Boychoir School, Rosedale Road. I do object to it. This would even cover the savings of children and I don't quite think that is correct. That is an awful large amount of money the government is losing but I question whether we are in a position to have our children's savings taxed. It doesn't seem fair to me.

Mrs. William Smith, Princeton, housewife: I'm dead against it. I've already written my senator opposing it. I think we already have the means and the mechanics available to collect this money, if the government will only enforce them. I think this will only add, unnecessarily, to the personnel, mechanism and expense needed to collect this tax. A second reason: not only do we already have the means to find this information out, but one loses the interest on that money for several months, possibly for three or more, while the government checks it out. And in the case of compound interest, that could add up to a considerable amount for some individuals. The government has use of the money during this period but the individual doesn't.

Bernard Hennessy, Upper Montclair, professor of politics, New York University Law School: Yes, I think we ought to have a withholding tax on this income. If you believe in the principle of people paying according to their ability to pay, then these people who have this type of income should pay. It is a simple extension of the principle of the graduated income tax.

Mrs. David H. Jones, 177 Jefferson Road, housewife: I'd be in favor of it. We pay ours and I think everybody ought to. We've gotten a lot of publicity on this from the banks and saving associations where we have accounts and, while I'm not sure I believe all they say, I feel it should be done in such a way that it doesn't put too much of a burden on the savings associations banks. But I do think if people aren't honest in reporting this income, something has to be done to make them.

Edward Arosts, Nassau Estates, administrator, Princeton Hospital: No, I wouldn't object. If it is truly taxable, it's going to be collected at one time or another so, theoretically, one shouldn't object to paying it in this manner. I don't agree, however, with taxing savings accounts and exempting a certain portion of one's dividend income. Perhaps that is an inducement to encourage people to invest, but it doesn't seem right to me. Admittedly it's an annoying tax to collect anyway you do it.

Mrs. George Mair, 412 Franklin Avenue, homemaker: I'm from Missouri. I'd have to be shown first it would work without causing undue confusion in the business world. They say it will. After the first year if it got straightened out and it didn't hurt the little person, as myself, I feel it would be as reasonable as the withholding tax.

Horace W. Moody, 155 Patton Avenue, fund-raiser for Princeton University: I think it is an outrage. I think it will work an unfair burden on the taxpayer and it's an attempt on the part of the government to penalize the honest taxpayer in order to catch the dishonest. I feel through these new electronic devices they are planning to install where every taxpayer will be given a number, they'll be able to find out who is cheating and they will be able to go after the cheaters rather than the honest taxpayer. I'm against making the taxpayer file quarterly claims, and Lord knows how long the government will take to pay it; and, in the meantime, the person is without the use of that income. I've written to my senator in protest.

Mrs. Stuart Wilson, 65 Westerly Road, housewife: No. I wouldn't object. This $800,000,000 is going to be recaptured by the government somehow and if it isn't obtained from those who owe it, then it will probably be obtained by levying another tax. This means people who are already paying the correct amount of taxes are going to be paying twice for those who aren't.

Louis Simpson, Lakeside Apartments, instructor, Princeton University: I wouldn't object, because I feel this is a fairly painless way that the government can collect revenue due it. At least until the data processing system now being installed is completed.

Sam Laidacker, Bristol, Pa., antique dealer and publisher of antique magazine: Personally, I'm very much in favor of it. I wouldn't think of cheating in reporting the amount of interest I received or on my dividend income. My opinion is one of the greatest faults of this country is the almost complete lack of practical financial knowledge in the average person, particularly so with school teachers. If this law goes through and people are faced with filing reports to get money back that they don't owe, but has been collected from them, they are likely to become interested enough to acquire a financial education. And if they do that ,they won't allow the politicians to get away with all their schemes to get money and distribute it without telling the people where it has gone.

THE TRACTOR WITH THE HALF-MINUTE HITCH...

Never before has so much engineering know-how been poured into a 6-hp tractor. Speed of attachment-changa along puts the HUSKY 'way out in front of its competition. BOLENS engineers call the HUSKY'S 3-point hitch (with splined power taka-off) "the half-minute hitch"... and they're being conservative.

Eleven Fast-Switch attachments mean year-round usefulness. Mow with the 32-inch rotary mower shown above. A 22-inch tiller attachment gives you easy, convenient tilling. The 32-inch Sno-Caster makes snow removal a pleasure... for light snow use the 42-inch grader blade. These and seven other attachments make the HUSKY 600 an all-season worker.

PLUS:
- All gear transmission with 6 speeds forward and 2 reverse
- One-pedal clutch-and-brake action • 6-position attachment lift • 6-hp Briggs & Stratton engine

MOVE OVER: In a breath-taking architectural chess game, the University plans to move the present Woodrow Wilson Hall 250 feet northeast of its present site and to build a new structure to house an expanded Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. The frame building that now houses the department of Astronomy will be torn down to make way for the move and the service garage behind Frick Chemical Laboratory will be removed. Final disposition of a University-owned house has not yet been determined.

MOVING DAY DUE

For Woodrow Wilson Hall

To make room for an expanded Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, the University will pick up Woodrow Wilson Hall from the corner of Washington Road and Prospect, and move it 250 feet northeast.

This will leave enough space for a 210-foot-long building designed by Minoru Yamasaki, a building which will, in the words of President Robert F. Goheen, "speak to all people, in dignity and Beauty, of the unprecedented opportunities for national and international service which have been opened up for the University in the Woodrow Wilson School."

A $35 million foundation was established last year by anonymous donors to provide for enlargement of the School. The new program will provide professional training at advanced levels for men who wish to make a career of international affairs, and for men already established in the field.

The cost of moving the 23,000-square foot brick structure now used for the school is thought by the University to be a worthwhile investment. The proposals have been submitted to the Borough Planning Board, which will hold its next meeting on June 6.

The first floor of Yamasaki's new building has a ceiling 29½ feet high to accomodate a bowl auditorium seating 250, and a library with study carrels suspended from the ceiling to form galleries on three sides. The suspension leaves the entire library floor free of structural columns.

Four additional bowl rooms, each seating 60, will be back-to-back in an area below ground. Faculty offices will be on the second floor.

The facade will have 70 functional columns 27 feet high made of quartz-aggregate pre-stressed concrete.

Question Of The Week

Walter B. Foster, Jr., 740 Princeton-Kingston Road, secretary, Nassau Savings and Loan Association: I'm opposed to it. The amount of paper work relating to all this withholding and then filing claims back and forth—the individual is going to have to be a mathematician to get his just due back. It will create an intolerable amount of bookwork. The government could check up on this a lot easier by hiring some more internal revenue agents. The psychological effect of having a revenue agent at one's elbow would make a lot of people more honest then they were in the past rather than go through all this folderol.

Victor J. Wilkes, Franklin Township, bank official in Princeton: I'm against the principal of it. How far it is going to go? New York, for example, and other states that have a state income tax say they will withhold too, and get their share the minute the bill is passed. It is conceivable that even cities that impose city taxes may want to get in on the gravy train. It'll become a question of who will beat whom to get in there and how many. I look at it this way: This is just the beginning of something that can spread to every level. Where it is going every level. Where is it going to end?

Thoughts on Water Shortage.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am sure that the Princeton Water Company will profit from the proposed survey by an engineering consulting firm, that the confidence expressed in the water company by Mayors Fairman and Patterson will not be misplaced, and that the complaints voiced by Thomas J. McGrath will be taken care of.

BUT I am amazed that your stories on this week's water crisis ignore the basic problem — shortage of water. More and more people are using more and more water, and there just isn't an unlimited supply underground. The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, among others, has published much information on the situation. Nearby areas of the State have been declared critical water areas, and it could be that Princeton will be next.

While local rains, if they come, may bring temporary relief from time to time, we must face the fact that water is no longer an unlimited resource. To some extent this unhappy situation is the concern of the United State Government, to some extent the concern of the State of New Jersey, and to some extent the concern of the Township and Borough. The Township and Borough can do little to increase the amount of water available to Princeton, but they can do a lot to assure that what water is available is used for essential purposes, for people, and is not squandered.

It seems to me that the Township and the Borough should, as a minimum, and without delay (1) make the recirculation of water in air conditioners mandatory; (2) impose stringent restrictions on refilling swimming pools and private washing of cars; (3) outlaw commercial and mass washing of cars. I urge this not as a temporary expedient, but as permanent public policy.

The Borough housewife who phoned the police for permission to do her dishes and laundry and the nurses on the third floor of the hospital must have derived great comfort from reading of all the cars that were washed last Saturday.

GEORGE C. ALEXANDER

Public Ownership Suggested.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

For two days the Princeton Water Company found itself unable to supply continuous water service to the borough. This, occuring early in the spring of a year which has by no means been a year of drought, raises a substantial question as to the adequacy of the borough water supply.

It is particularly distressing in view of the performance of the Princeton Water Company earlier this year in determining the cause of the bad taste of the water in parts of Princeton. It seemed to require an excessively long time to detect and identify the impurity in the water supply.

Certainly the time is at hand for a thorough investigation of the operations of the Princeton Water Company. Is the company adequately expanding its facilities to keep pace with the expanding requirements of the borough, what is the factor of safety in the capacity of these facilities to fulfill the present needs of the borough; has carefully is the water supply controlled with regard to pollution; does the capacity of the water supply provide adequate fire protection; and would the interest of the public be better served by public ownership of the water facilities?

Certainly a conscientious Borough Administration will wish to determine the answers to these and other questions involving the borough water supply via a professional and objective investigation.

Consolidation Delay Costly.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The letter to the two Princeton governing bodies from the Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council on the consolidation study, and my own letter of several weeks ago on the same subject, together have produced no audible or visible result. There has been no change in pace from the dilly-dallying and foot-dragging which has characterized the attitude of the two governing bodies towards this question.

It may well be that no outsider can have the slightest effect on the two Councils in this matter. But at least we shall know that we have tried, before turning to the advocacy of other less pleasing alternatives.

I have two lines of thought I should like to present to the public of Princeton. The first is optimistic and hopeful and is the subject of the present letter.

The other will seem less appealing because it will set forth the directions in which the Township will inevitably have to move in the years immediately ahead if the Borough authorities continue to turn a deaf ear to the idea of an immediate start on a fact-finding study of full consolidation. This will be the subject of another letter in the near future—at which time I intend to turn a bright searchlight on this murky business of Borough-Township "cooperation," which we are now being told is an effective and suitable alternative to consolidation.

But this time on the happier side. Let us first get one thing clear. The key issue in consolidation is some system of differential tax rates within the new consolidated town so that the Borough people would not be penalized by having to pay for the Township's rapid growth.

Unless such a solution could be worked out, we are all wasting our time even talking about this question. However, lawyers and other experts have told us that this could be done; and I am convinced that a majority of the Township taxpayers would buy any equitable solution along these lines. So the major purpose of a consolidation study is to find out just what could be done in this connection. How is it possible to argue that we should keep ourselves ignorant of the possibilities, or that to inquire into the matter promptly will be a dangerous adventure?

One of the most intriguing aspects of consolidation is the set of possibilities it would open up for resolving some of the big public real estate and building problems of Princeton. For example, if we were united, why would not Miss Fine's School be an almost ideal new Town Hall?

It has good space, adequate parking, an excellent auditorium, and a fine and historic location which should be put to some important public use. Its purpose by the new town of Princeton would be a boon to all concerned, among other things helping to advance the plans of the present school to build and move to its new campus in the Township.

Would not the present Township Hall (with necessary additions of garage space and secondary buildings) serve nicely as the headquarters for engineering, roads and public works? And thus how appropriately the present Borough Engineering Buidling could be devoted entirely to offices for the numerous community service groups for which there is now a most serious shortage of space in Princeton!

In a consolidated town (and school district) would not the following program make a great deal of sense: (1) expand the present Township elementary schools and perhaps add another one to take care of the Town's K-5 school population; (2) combine all of the 6, 7 and 8 grades at Community Park and Valley Road School, expanding these plants as necessary (this would automatically remove any possibility that our schools would become segregated as a result of school district consolidation); (3) let the Choir College keeps its tract, or if it really wants to sell this land, let the school district purchase it for additional playing fields for the high school; and (4) sell the Quarry St. and Nassau St. Schools, arranging the disposition of the latter property so that the University acquires the William Street portion of the tract which it is understood very keenly to seek, and the Nassau Street frontage is developed for commercial use, adding important ratables to the tax list.

Who indeed stands to lose from such a series of developments? Certainly not the taxpaying public of Princeton.

Those who are determined that at all costs and regardless of consequences the Borough must have a new Borough Hall, and those who would congest the high school area unmercifully by putting the Borough's entire educational plant within a two-block expanse—yes, they will lose. But if Princeton could work towards an economical, sensible and historically valid solution along the lines here proposed, Princeton would not lose. Surely this town will have the wisdom to see its own best interests in such broad and general terms.

SEVEN STEPS TO EXPERT RUG CLEANING

Contrary to popular belief, rug cleaning is not a simple do-it-yourself process. Rugs can represent a substantial amount of your home furnishings' investment. Careful home care, proper handling, expert cleaning and repairing give added dividends in longer wear as well as greater beauty.

This is how our rug cleaning experts — with over 30 years experience in this field — handle your investment.

1. When your call is received, a pick-up of your rug is scheduled at your convenience. (Up to four men are available, and one of two trucks or station wagon will call for it depending upon the rug's size.)

2. All men are trained to roll rugs and move furniture when necessary. Respect and care for your personal belongings are uppermost in their minds. (We have complete insurance coverage in case of damage or breakage.) At the time of pick-up, you receive a numbered receipt for all rugs, and each rug is tagged with your name, number and list of services required.

3. Upon entering our own plant (your visit is welcome at any time), your rug is measured, dusted, spot-cleaned, and then completely cleaned as soon as possible. The type of cleaning it receives depends on the kind of rug. There are approximately seven different processes we can employ. Whether your rug is a fine, delicate tapestry or a cotton bath mat, each gets its correct process.

4. Drying is just as important as washing. We have a large dry-room where rugs can be hung full-length or laid flat, with automatic heat control and proper air circulation, or for sunshine drying, large lawn areas are available.

5. After drying, rugs are inspected before they are rolled, wrapped, packed or placed in storage. If additional attention is required, your rug can be re-washed, or spotted to assure the best possible results.

6. While awaiting delivery, rugs are kept in storage tubes. These tubes keep them free from dust and not in contact with other rugs — thus preventing crushing.

7. Your rug is delivered to you at your convenience. Rugs and pads are expertly laid if requested. Pads are trimmed where necessary.

   There is a nominal charge for laying rugs. This is not included in the cleaning price because most rugs are not laid by our men. This charge is made separately because a hidden charge would not be fair or ethical.

Give the Tiger More Space.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

At a recent meeting of the Borough Council, a representative of Palmer Square, Inc., verified the rumor that a new bank and office building is planned for the vacant land on the east side of Palmer Square. The Borough has been assured that the proposed new building will be attractive and will harmonize with its surroundings. Those who favor commercial use of this grass plot may argue that it will provide increased and welcome tax revenue for the Borough.

No one questions the logic of these arguments. However, there is a self-evident alternative use that could be made of this land. It could be acquired by the Borough and used to double or triple the size of the island on which the bronze tiger reposes.

The roadway on the east side of the island could be relocated eastward so that it would pass through the vacant strip of land. A larger island would lend itself to greater landscaping possibilities and would provide the Borough with a square even more beautiful than it already has.

This is the last opportunity the Borough will have to enlarge its "town square." The undersigned urges that a study of the pros and cons of such use of this land be made and that public sentiment on the issue be sought. If future generations are to be denied a sizeable "town square," it should be for only the most compelling economic reasons.

FRED ENGLISH

6 Madison St.

"Total Restraint" Favored.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The proposed Dog Control Ordinance states that no person owning a dog shall permit that dog to be on public school property, in any park or recreation area or in any place other than the dog owner's property unless the dog is accompanied by and under the supervision of a responsible person. Is that asking too much of a dog owner? Responsible parents do not permit their young children to wander about unsupervised but require knowledge of their whereabouts at all times. However, the publicity given out by those against this ordinance would have us believe that dogs (lacking the intelligence of humans) are in a class by themselves with rights accorded no human being. These rights include: Trespassing or destroying the property of others. Adding to the hazards of driving. Biting — provided no blood is shed; Being a general nuisance.

Is it not more sensible to say that if dogs cannot control themselves, then the owners must help them through training and restrictions.

No one is advocating the banishment of dogs or their confinement to straight jackets as some imagine when they hear the term "total restraint". The ordinance leaves it up to the individual owner to decide how he can best control his dog. Consider this matter and control — what is involved?

Some dogs are indoor dogs, regarded as a family pet, playmate, companion and watchdog. Proper control means the dog goes out about twice a day on a leash or runs free on his owner's property but under supervision. (Or let our dog out while we watch from the window. She goes to her "area" and returns momentarily.) Time for exercise should be provided at one of these outings unless the dog is outside with the family at other times. No dog needs to go in and out constantly. Nor does the dog require walks of a mile in snow, slush or rain—ten times a day as one letter to all dog owners stated.

Others are considered outdoor dogs—regarded generally as watchdogs. Proper control here means providing a fenced area and shelter from the elements as well as a supervised exercise period each day. A dog doesn't need the run of your entire property.

Indoors or outdoors — every dog needs proper housing and food, exercise, affection, kindness and discipline. This takes a little time but not every leisure moment. If a dog owner cannot devote a little time each day to his dog, then the dog would be happier elsewhere.

Our friends who are against this ordinance say that under it children would be deprived of the companionship of their four-legged playmates. The ordinance doesn't say that a dog can't play with children outdoors on his property or even on a neighbor's property so long as it is mutually agreeable. Nor does the ordinance say that a child can't watch his dog. (Do the "anti's" feel that a school-age child is not responsible enough to keep track of his dog?)

A completely rural community with farms scattered across the countryside can permit its dogs greater freedom. However, does this description fit Princeton? Little of this area is not populated with houses next to one another (note the concern for Open Space). Hence we must deal with this problem in a manner which will benefit the greatest number of people. Those to be affected by the passage of this ordinance are only the irresponsible dog owners who can't be bothered about the safety and property of their neighbors.

The group against the ordinance have so completely filled their ads and letters with exaggerations, distortions and emotion-charged statements that any valid points which they may have become completely obscured. It would be interesting to know how many of those who claim to be against the ordinance have taken five minutes to read a copy of it.

Nowhere in the ordinance does it require tethering of a dog.

The ordinance requires supervision by a responsible person. It does not exclude children. However, the age of responsibility should be clarified.

A picture has been painted of a future Princeton resembling the stockyards of Chicago. However, these same picture painters, who are against enclosed area for dogs, suggest that those property owners concerned about their bushes and flower beds put up the fences. Where are all these "stockyard" towns? Princeton would not be the first community to control its dogs but only one of thousands.

It has also been suggested that a dog roaming the property is a deterrent to prowlers. This same person questioned the ability of a dog to know the boundaries of said property. We fail to see how a dog can be a good watchdog when home is just a place to pick up meals and catch 40 winks. What does a dog care about protecting people who just let him fend for himself.

Let us not banter about statements regarding the infringement of our rights and freedoms through this ordinance. Whose rights are involved — the dogs or our citizens? Remember our Constitution was set up to promote the general welfare. Let us also remember that freedom carries with it responsibility.

A concluding hope is that the response (pro and con) to this ordinance will mark an increase in citizen participation in our Township government. Our committeemen need our support and views to help them make intelligent decisions. Many decisions affecting the future nature of Princeton far more seriously than the dog situation will have to be made at forthcoming Township meetings.

A chemistry teacher, he assumed the additional responsibility of college guidance counseling in 1953. In recent years, Mr. Lewis has devoted full time to counseling seniors who are interested in higher education.

Mrs. Forsbeck teaches first grade at the Nassau Street School, and has been with the school for 17 years. She was graduated from Emory University, and received her master's degree in education in 1942 from the Teachers College of Columbia University.

Buy an annuity and live

Financial insecurity can lead to a barren and lonely existence for the older person. Those years after 60 can also bring the fear of out-living capital and the worry of managing the savings of a lifetime. The result—often severe stresses that can be dangerous to both physical and mental health.

People who buy annuities buy freedom from worry and fear. Our annuitants find that a regular income guaranteed for life brings peace of mind, helps make those sunset years a rich and satisfying experience. And we know that many live to a ripe old age.

Whether you are 30 and buying an annuity in advance or you are 70 and want payments to start now there's an annuity designed to bring you peace of mind. The Man from Manufacturers would be pleased to give you the complete story. Be sure to ask him about the favourable tax picture.

PERFECT GAME HURLED

By Harry Kahny. Harry Kahny pitched a perfect game at Trenton's Hetzel Field Friday evening under the lights as Ivy Inn walloped Capitol Sportsmen, 15-0 in the Trenton Fast Pitch Softball League. At the end of the first week of play, Ivy Inn was 2-0.

Kahny's was a masterful performance. Not one Sportsman reached first base and not one ball was hit to the outfield all evening. Enroute to his no-hitter, the Princeton Borough patrolman struck out 13. Two outstanding defensive plays by third baseman Kenny Luck helped to preserve the perfect game. Jack Petrone and Pete Sannino each had three hits to pace the victors' 15-run attack.

Ivy Inn was almost as effective in the game it played last Tuesday. Princeton's entry in the eight-team league served notice in its initial outing it would have to be reckoned with by defeating Storky's Chevron, 12-3. This time, Kahny was nicked for three hits. But his teammates, led by the three-hit performance of Bobby Cook, staked their standout pitcher to a 5-0 lead after two innings and the outcome was never in doubt.

Kahny will take the mound next Friday evening against Lalor Amoco. The game will start at 8.45. All games in this league are played at Hetzel Field under lights.

The Ivy Inn lineup: Bob Cook, 1b; Dave Britton, 2b; Jack Petrone, ss; George Sickel or Ken Luck, 3b; Bob Kehoe, Dan Seulerati, Dave Hoadley or Frank Cox, outfield; and Joe Toto and Tex Sannino sharing the catching. Pete Sannino is the team's manager and Bill Murphy and Bing Dennen, scorekeepers.

TIGERS DO ABOUTFACE

With Upset of Rider. Having suffered through a violent seven-game losing streak in which it was guilty of just about everything a college baseball team can do wrong, Princeton brought its misfortunes to a violent end Saturday with a wholly-unexpected 10-0 whitewash of neighboring Rider.

The visitors, whose campus is a scant five miles down the road near Lawrenceville, were comfortably above the .500 mark going into the game and had the major distinction of holding the only victory this season over St. John's of Brooklyn, top-rated team in the east. The Tigers, going nowhere with a 7-14-1 record, called on an unknown sophomore to do their hurling; Rider used Jack Lackey, a standout at Princeton High two seasons ago who had won three of his five starts this spring.

Five and a half innings of scoreless ball were ended by a seven-run outburst credited to the oft-trompted on Tigers. They weighed in with six hits, Lackey's support came apart as it committed three errors and the outcome thereafter was easily foretold.

In addition to collecting a dozen hits — three of them credited to first baseman Don Fudge — Princeton stole on the opposing catcher virtually at will. Paced by Captain Jack Whitehouse with two, the Tigers were credited with seven thefts.

Making his first full game a whitewash, sophomore Emile Rosenberg held the visitors to five singles. In disciplinary trouble with the freshman coaching staff last season, he has been used largely in relief this year and had not accomplished a great deal until Saturday.

Four games remain for Princeton, the first, another meeting Saturday with Yale at New Haven. Next week, Colgate, Lafayette and Yale in the commencement game are all on tap in the space of four days. Colgate comes here next Wednesday and the Tigers go to Easton to face perennially-strong Lafayette the following day. Rosenberg may draw as many as two starts to see if he's for real.

THREE SECOND PLACES

For Tigers in IC4-A Meet. Second-place finishes were achieved by three Princeton trackmen last weekend in a strong field competing in the 88th annual IC4-A Championships at Villanova, Pa. The defending champion home team won easily as expected, compiling 49½ points to 25½ for runner-up Yale. Princeton, with 11½, was ninth among more than 30 entries.

Captain Ed Thurber, Lawrenceville resident came close to winning the javelin throw, which Nick Kovalakides, whose home is in Princeton, captured as senior last year at Maryland. Thurber was credited with a heave of 217 feet, 7 inches — seven feet short of the performance that won for Doug Kerr of Villanova.

Rod Zwirner surprised with his second place in the three-mile run, a gruelling event that requires better than 14 minutes to complete. Sophomore John Hartnett cleared the high jump bar at 6-5½ to tie for second. Charlie Mitchell's fourth-place tie in the pole vault and Whit Azoy's sixth in the 880 rounded out the Princeton scoring.

REGATTA ON CARNEGIE

Staged By New Class. Lake Carnegie was the scene Saturday of a 14-boat regatta staged by the G. P. Fourteen Class Association. Appropriately, there were 14 such craftes sailed by members of the association's newly-formed Middle Atlantic States Area.

"G.P." stands for general purpose" and "fourteen" for the boat's length. The sloop-rigged, one-design craft kept their spinnakers below decks in view of the frequent strong gusts of wind and the relatively narrow width of the lake.

Contestants sailed four races around a triangular course, competing for three prizes (in the form of mugs) which were awarded at the end of the program to Edward Magee of Narberth, Pa.; Joseph Williams of Philadelphia; and Marsden Vanderwaart of Bedminster as respective first, second and third-place finishers. A broken mug handle went to Stephen Wolf of Levittown, Pa., for finishing last.

contestants, crews and guests at a picnic lunch preceding the race. J. J. Lawson of Princeton is area chairman for the G. P. Fourteen Class, while A. R. Ambrose is another owner of this type sailboat who lives in this area.

The class is relatively new to the United States, although more popular in Canada and England, where more than 5000 of the swift craft bearing the bell symbol on their mainsails are registered. The design represents a compromise between a high-performance racing boat and a family day-sailer.

BOGIA BREAKS RECORD

In 100 and 220. Co-captain Tom Bogia of the Princeton High School track team ran the 100 and the 220-yard dashes in record time Saturday in the Central Jersey Group 3 Track Meet at Asbury Park. The short, stockily-built speedster broke the existing meet marks and bettered both PHS times for the two events, marks dating back to 1953.

"Bogia had a fantastic day," reported Coach Jerry Groninger. Competing against 13 other runners, Tom won the 100 in 9.6 seconds, very fast time for a high school runner. His record in the 220 was 21.4 which he won by a good ten yards, according to Groninger.

The Little Tiger marks that Bogia displaced were both formerly held by Alfred Terry. Terry's record in the 100 was ten second flat and 22.2 in the 220, almost a full second slower than Bogia's new mark. His time in the two events has stood since 1953.

RECORD BREAKER: Tom Bogia, co-captain of the PHS track team, set records in the 100 and 220-yard events Saturday in the Central Jersey Group 3 Track Meet.

Bogia's two firsts were good for 10 points and helped PHS to finish fourth among 14 competing schools with 22 points. The Group 3 crown was won by Keyport with 29 points, followed by Somerville, 26, and North Plainfield, 24. Princeton High was defending champion.

The Blue and White picked up five more points in the shot. Gary Moroni captured third place but Joe Cox, defending champion in the event, could do no better than fourth this year. The winning toss of 57 feet was almost 10 feet better than Cox' first-place effort last spring. Other point-getters for PHS included John Bensinger, third in the 880, and Sam Spangenberg and Jack Kelley, fourth and fifth respectively, in the javelin. George Rosso finished fifth in the high hurdles.

Coach Groninger reported that Bogia's fine showing was achieved by complete relaxation. "It was noticeable even in the stands as he finished that he was completely relaxed," said Groninger. Although only 5-6, Bogia has an enormous stride. "He has," said Groninger, "certainly shown tremendous improvement this year." Bogia is a senior.

State Meet Saturday. The annual state meet at Rutgers Stadium Saturday will be the final event for the Blue and White this season. Coach Groninger plans to enter the smallest contingent representing PHS in four or five years. Only four boys will make the trip to New Brunswick: Bogia in the sprints, Russo in the high hurdles and Bensinger and Jim Norris in the 880.

Groninger indicated that Bogia has a good chance to place at least second in the sprints. Tom will have to run three times—trials, semi-finals and finals—for each event. "That is six major performances," said Groninger, "and that takes a lot of energy out of a little fellow like Bogia. Our biggest concern will be to see that he doesn't have to run without first getting his rest."

LITTLE TIGERS DEFEATED

By Somerville Nine. After pitching a no-hitter in Princeton High's last outing, Jim Quinn had a shot at becoming another Johnny Vandermeer Friday afternoon when the Little Tigers traveled to Somerville.

Unfortunately, the Rams had no desire to be on the receiving end of any such Quinn achievement and defeated the lanky southpaw, 3-1.

A double down the left field line with two aboard in the fifth inning was the decisive blow for Somerville after the score had been tied at one all. Dave Shields, the Little Tiger leftfielder, thought the blow was a foul and didn't pursue it as fast as he might. The umpire thought differently, however, and both runs scored before Shields could get the ball back to the infield.

Shields redeemed himself for his lapse afield at the plate. After having gone hitless in 13 trips, Shields, who toils for the Blue and White as a utility fielder and relief pitcher, banged half the losers' four hits. In three at bats, he rapped Somerville's pitching for a single and double.

Quinn, for his part, gave up only three hits, but two were for extra bases. His teammates staked him to a 1-0 lead in the first inning. After Jack Walstad had walked and Ray Britton singled him to third, the pair engineered a double steal, Walstad scoring.

The loss was Princeton's ninth in 13 games. Somerville won its 12th against four defeats.

HUN DRUBS SOLEBURY

In Finale, 16-3. Scoring more runs (12) in one loning than it had in any game this season, the Hun baseball team defeated Solebury last Wednesday in a return game, 16-3. In winning its finale, Hun ended its season with a 6-5 record.

The Red and Black's big loning was the second when a total of 17 batters paraded to the plate. Ceoterfielder Gary Grover and shortstop Dave Penrose each atroked two hits during the uprising. Howie Taylor got credit for the win, though Larry Haggerty pitched the last inning.

Because it was late in starting, the game was called at the end of five innings. After the visitors jumped to their commanding lead, coach Sandy Bing emptied his bench. Ironically, it was the same Spartan nine that started Hun on its five-game losing streak when it upset the Red and Black, 7-6, in April. That, too, was a five-inning game. "Looking back," said Bing, "it seems ridiculous we lost to these teams."

Out of the ashes of a season that should have beeo a much better one, Bing will have three returning leitermen back next season, all infielders. They are first baseman Alex Langel; Dave Penrose, shortstop; and Hap Young, third base. Though only a freshman, Mark Savidge, brother of co-captaio Paul Savidge, displayed some fine talent around second base this year and Bing reported that this should give him a good, experienced infield.

ETS REMAINS UNBEATEN

In Business Softball. The defending champion, Educational Testing Service, was the only unbeaten entry in the Business Softball League after three weeks of play. Action last week saw Joe Patnick and Rauld Beular each hit grand-slam home runs to pace the league leaders to a 19-5 triumph over Gulton Ortholog.

In general, the batters were way ahead of the pitchers: Engineering Research Center and Industrial Reactor Laboratory jammed 34 runs across the plate, the former racking up a 19-15 triumph. E Paulsen, Bob Easton and Dan Brbst hit home runs for the victors.

Columbian Carboo, loser in its first two games, began the rise upward by pounding out a 19-10 victory over Opinion Research. Frank Repko ted the winners' solid offense with six hits in six trips to the plate.

In the other game, Electro-Mechanical Researcb was credited with 20 hits while defeating RCA Labs, 15 to 8. Paul Crea nd Ron Infanti were the top men at the plate for EMR, while Walt Reichert contributed a pair of homers in a losing cause.

TO HEAR NEW ANTHEM

At Seminary Graduation. "Create In Me A New Heart," by Richard Yardumian will be performed for the first time next Tuesday at the Sesquicentennial Commencement of Princeton Theological Seminary.

The anthem will be sung by the choir under the direction of David Hugh Jones, professor of music at the Seminary. It was one of two compositions commissioned for the Sesquicentennial observance. Portions of the books of Isaiah, Ezekial, Zechariah and the Psalms form the text.

A three-movement symphony by Yardumian was given its first performance last season by the Philadelphia Orchestra, under the direction of Eugene Ormandy. Ormandy also introduced the composer's "Chorale Prelude on Plainsong 'Veni Sancte Spiritus,'" three years ago.

The commencement exercises will begin at 10:30 a.m. in the Princeton University Chapel.

REV. MR. McALPIN FETED

On Fifth Anniversary. The Rev. David A. McAlpin, Jr., associate pastor of Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, was the surprised honor guest at the May Fellowship Tea Sunday, honoring his five years of service.

"These five years have been the most important in my life," the Rev. Mr. McAlpin said on the occasion.

His assignment on coming to the church was to organize the young people, and he has drawn an increasing number of them into church activities. He has also served as director of the summer camp at Island Heights.

Among the gifts he received at the tea was a check from the Women's Association for one of his key projects, the library in the church conference room.

The Young People's Fellowship, whose members are from 13 to 15 years of age, were in charge of the program. Mrs. Leonard Newton was chairman of the tea committee and John Counts acted as master of ceremonies.

Fellowship members who took part were: Marjorie Anderson, Catherine Carson, Wilbur Hines, Sharon Campbell Thomasina Caldwell, Langford Rolling, James and Michael Floyd.

The Rev. Mr. McAlpin is a graduate of Princeton University and Union Theological Seminary. He attended St. Andrew's University, Scotland, and taught in the Pomfret School prior to coming to the Witherspoon Church. He lives with his wife and three children at 199 Laurel Circle.

The Chapel That Refused to Die

This is Rosedale Chapel, built in 1898, and containing a Memorial Window donated by President Grover Cleveland. In the summer of 1952, when it had been closed for five years, an announcement appeared in the Princeton papers calling a meeting of the Trustees of Rosedale Chapel for the purpose of disposing of the building.

But a remnant of its faithful people refused to disband, and since 1952, the original Chapel has been restored, a small addition has been built and over two acres of land has been added to the property. In 1957, a full religious program was inaugurated and now, a new building larger than the Chapel itself is about to be dedicated as the Rosedale Chapel Community House. Dedication services will be held June 10 at 4 p.m.

The total cost to date, without counting very generous and sacrificial free labor, amounts to more than $50,000, all of which has been paid or provided for by members and a few friends. Rosedale still needs $2,000 to provide fully for necessary appliances and fixtures.

In the hope that friends may be moved to contribute to this need, the donor of this advertisement, as a private individual, makes this appeal.

Contributions, which are tax exempt, may be sent to:

MIDGET BASEBALL TIED

In American League. With only two weeks of play remaining in the Princeton YMCA Midget League, the Tigers and the Indians in the American League are in a deadlock for first place with 6-1 records. All other teams are playing under .500 and are considered out of the race.

In the National League, the race for first place is almost as close. The defending world champion Giants are on top with a perfect 6-0 record. Only a game behind, however, are the Red Legs at 5-1. The final two games for these teams should be filled with fireworks.

Upcoming games in the National League include: Friday, Dodgers vs. Pirates at Plainsboro; Braves vs. Giants at Mercer; and Red Legs vs. Cardinals at PCD. Monday, Braves and Dodgers at Mercer; Cardinals and Pirates at Plainsboro, and, in the big one, the Red Legs and Giants at YMCA. All games start at 6.15.

American League action on Friday pits the Athletics against the Yankees at YMCA; the Tigers against the Red Sox at PCD, and the Indians against the Orioles at Mercer. On Tuesday the Tigers will meet the Yankees at PCD; the Athletics face the Orioles at Mercer, and the Indians play the Red Sox at YMCA. All games begin at 6:15.

KAHNY WINS THIRD

For Ivy Inn. Ivy Inn of Princeton won its third consecutive game (see page 23) Monday night in the Trenton Softball League, defeating Liedtka's Fuel Oil behind the two-hit pitching of its star hurler, Harry Kahny. Ivy has yet to be defeated.

Kahny helped his own cause greatly by striking out 15. He has now averaged 13 strikeouts per game in his first three starts. Twenty-five more games remain in the 28-game schedule.

Ivy jumped to an early lead when Danny Sculerati led off with a walk and Bobby Cook followed with a triple. Kenny Luck later connected for a homer with a man on to up Ivy's margin to four runs. Luck, Cook and Sculerati scored all six of the victors' runs.

WHITEWASH ENDS YEAR

For Little Tiger Nine. A 6-0 shutout at the hands of Hamilton High ended the 1962 season Tuesday for the Princeton High School baseball team on the losers' diamond. Short of experience, power and pitching, the Blue and White was no better than 4-10 for the year.

The first three innings were scoreless, but the visiting Hornets shoved over a single tally in the fourth and added a total of five more in the sixth and seventh. John Quinn absorbed the loss; Captain Dave Lanning was two for two at the plate to pick up half the PHS hits for the day.

ANGELINE SHOP WINS

Takes Bowling Title. The Angeline Shop of Hopewell has won the title in the Hio-Majorette League, a 12-team woman's league bowling at the Hiohela Sportsland, Pennington. Mrs. Angeline Mollica, owner of the Angeline Shop and sponsor of the team, accepted the trophy at a banquet held last week at the Brookside Inn.

The Angeline team won the second half of league play after Pennington Pharmacy had captured first-half honors. In a roll-off between the two teams, Angeline won two of three matches. Members of the team include Miss Virginia Lewis and Mrs. Arlette Van Arsdale, both of Hopewell, Mrs. Marjorie Mantell, Pennington; and Mrs. Alice Runyon, Lambertville.
